Intellectual Property Litigation

Conflicts and disputes involving intellectual property rights are highly complex, requiring a team of attorneys with substantial experience handling sophisticated, high-stakes cases. The attorneys at Thorpe Shwer represent both plaintiffs and defendants in connection with a wide range of intellectual property disputes under federal and state law, including claims involving:

- Trade secrets
- Trademark infringement
- Trade dress actions
- The Lanham Act
- Copyright infringement
- Patent rights
- Misuse and misappropriation of property
- Unfair and deceptive trade practices

Our work includes advising clients on their rights and obligations associated with intellectual property, negotiating resolutions, and litigating claims in state and federal courts, as well as through arbitrations and mediations.
